

Activity 1: Credibility in the Digital Age Video & Discussion

First, watch the following video, Credibility in the Digital Age created by the MAPP Project, Pivot TV, and HitRECORD that focuses on how we assess the quality of information we encounter online.

After watching the video, discuss the below questions in small groups. Write down your thoughts and the ideas your group members share.

- When you see something in media (any media), how do you know if it's true or not?
- How do you judge the credibility of a source? What is your thought process?
- Is there such a thing as a fact?
- Have you ever been fooled? Did you initially believe something only to find out later that it wasn't true? How did you react? Or, did you ever assume something was false then later find out that it was actually genuine?
